Learn more about Word. You can also join the Office community to ask a question or start a discussion.

You can use Word to write letters, memos, reports, and essays. However, on larger documents like a documentation manual or quarterly report, users are less likely to be editing close enough together for both to show on the screen at. Unfortunately, that customization was one of the features that was too hidden, or too complex to use. TIP Every Word document—whether new or opened from disk—opens in its own window.

To close all documents and quit Word, you must individually close every open document. To preview a document, hover the mouse over one of the pasting options and Word will show what the document will look like if that option is selected. Every user needs Word for a different reason.
